

HARVEY NICHOLS

A lunchtime revolution: HotCan self-heating meals have arrived at Harvey Nichols

Ditch the microwave, throw the soggy sandwich away and try a HOT new alternative. HotCans are exclusively at Harvey Nichols Foodmarkets nationwide and online.

HotCan is an impressive and unique self-heating meal that's taking on the might of the sandwich. By simply piercing the rim of the HotCan with the attached key, a completely safe exothermic reaction heats up the nutritious meal to the perfect eating temperature in just 10 to 12 minutes. The result? A hot meal that can be eaten anytime, anywhere, which stays warm for 45 minutes.

There are four delicious flavours to choose from: Bangers & Beanz, Beanz with Balls and a tasty cheese ravioli with chunky tomato sauce. There's even a creamy rice pudding for those who fancy something sweet to round off the meal!

HotCans will be available in Harvey Nichols Foodmarkets nationwide and online priced at £3.95.
